The University of Hawaii at Manoa, Shidler College of Business, completed its 35th Annual Asian Field Study themed “Asian Business Opportunities”. Thirteen EMBAs, five MBAs, and two BBA students were hosted by various businesses and institutions in Tokyo: Japan Airlines, Fortress Investment Group (Japanese Hotel REIT), Nissan Yokohama Engine Plant, H.I.S. Travel HQ, Cyberdyne (wearable robotics), Tokyo Stock Exchange and Hawaiian Airlines; Kyoto: Doshisha University, Nestle Japan, and Eriko Horiki Studio (commercial washi-paper art); Beijing: Kyland Technology (internet infrastructure), Studio City (film production), Film Maker Space (film industry incubator), NBA China, Strategic Public Relations Group, Yunniao Technology (internet/cloud truck sharing platform); and Hanoi: Esquel Group (global shirt manufacturer), PAN Group/VINASEED (food/farming conglomerate), U.S. Embassy in Hanoi, RedSun ITI (food processing and restaurant franchising), Vinahasa (stainless steel manufacturer) and MB Bank.

The objective of the six-credit Asian Field Study program is to enhance student preparation for business careers in the Asia-Pacific region. This is accomplished by improving language skills, learning risk management techniques, identifying Asian market opportunities and adapting to unique cultures and business practices. Each country and city had a specific theme; Tokyo on tourism links to Hawaii and investment opportunities in an aging economy, Kyoto on leveraging its traditional arts and creativity in business, Beijing on China's strategic shift up the value chain, and Hanoi on Vietnam’s rapid economic development and rise as a manufacturing hub. Industry focuses included tourism, financial services, healthcare, internet commerce, manufacturing (autos and apparel), entertainment (film and sports), technology, food service, agriculture and transportation (airlines and trucking). Of particular emphasis were industries where Hawaii has strong links with Asia and therefore students can seek career opportunities while promoting Hawaii as a future business hub for the Asia-Pacific region.

Rigorous course work of twelve 3.5-hour classes led by Program Director Ben Bystrom complemented the 20-day field study travels. Pre-trip classes covered foreign exchange markets, Asian corporate equity analysis, management and marketing case studies, Economist Intelligence Unit reports and culminated with student group presentations and analysis on Japan, China, Vietnam and Korea. Guest lectures by regional industry experts included Brian Brereton, China Consultant, U.S. Dept. of Defense; Jack Suyderhoud, Professor of Business Economics; Betty Brow, Merrill Lynch/Asian Financial Markets; Tram Nguyen, Ernst and Young Vietnam; Don Takahashi, President, Prince Resorts Hawaii; and Steve Sombrero, President, Cushman & Wakefield ChaneyBrooks. The post-trip program wrapped up with reflective sessions and final trip-inspired student research presentations on focus industries, venture opportunities and consulting reports.

Alumni played an invaluable role, not only in arranging site visits, but also hosting networking events in Tokyo and Hanoi in which our students actively engaged business executives and UH graduates from across Asia. Generous scholarships totaling over $100,000 were graciously provided by the Freeman Foundation, Ralph S. Inouye Co., Ltd., David T. Pietsch, and the UH Shidler College of Business.

Cultural activities included climbing the Great Wall of China, visiting the Forbidden City and Tiananmen Square in Beijing, touring the historic towns of Kamakura and Kyoto and visiting temples in the old quarter of Hanoi.
