9:15 CLOSING
Aloha,

Welcome to the 60th Anniversary Shidler College of Business Hall of Honor Awards. On behalf of our Shidler ‘ohana, I would like to extend my gratitude for your continuous support and participation in this very special evening.

Tonight we are excited to share six decades of our people and programs. We will begin the formal part of this evening’s program with the introduction of our first graduating classes of 1952 and 1953, followed with a special historical video of the College honoring our alumni. We will conclude with the induction of four exceptional alumni into the College’s Hall of Honor. Our honorees this year are: Howard H. Hamamoto, President, Quarters, Inc.; Virginia Pressler, Executive Vice President and Chief Strategic Officer, Hawai‘i Pacific Health; Victor Lim, President, LWD, Inc., dba McDonald’s®; and Ross Murakami, Founding Partner, KMH LLP.

All of the alumni we honor tonight exemplify the core values of the Shidler College of Business: hard work, strong leadership, community service and a commitment to education. Together, they will join over 26,000 Shidler alumni worldwide, making tremendous contributions to their companies and communities.

Throughout the 2009-2010 school year, we will showcase our alumni and programs at all College events in commemoration of our 60th anniversary. Please visit our new Shidler60.com website for more information on upcoming events.

Once again, I would like to thank the nearly 55 class representatives for their help in making this year’s Hall of Honor event a success, our title sponsor Hawaii Business and the 60th Anniversary steering committee members, Jay Shidler, Robin Campaniano, Howard Hamamoto, and Barbara Tanabe for their outstanding support and guidance.

The funds raised this evening will support the Shidler College of Business Alumni Association’s pledge of $200,000 along with matching support from Shidler Matching Gift Funds, to establish a $400,000 scholarship endowment for the next generation of business leaders.

Please enjoy tonight’s program as we reminisce over the past 60 years through music, pictures, and a special 60th commemorative historical video of the College.

Sincerely,

V. Vance Roley

Aloha and congratulations to the 2009 Hall of Honor inductees!

Several years ago Hawaii Business published an article “What School You Went?” discussing the high school affiliations of leaders of the Top 250 companies. On further analysis, the article might have focused on their college affiliation: over 30% of the senior executives of Hawai’i’s Top 250 companies are graduates of the University of Hawai’i, many from the Shidler College of Business.

During the past 60 years, the Shidler College has been the preeminent organization responsible for training and delivering leaders to the Hawai’i business community. As we are reminded at each Hall of Honor Awards dinner, the list of Shidler alumni represents top leaders from all sectors of our community, including Robert Clarke, Richard Ha, Dee Jay Mailer, Jay Shidler, Robin Campaniano, David Heenan, Susan Au Doyle, Eddie Flores, Barry Taniguchi, and so many others.

This year’s Hall of Honor inductees on the special 60th anniversary of the founding of the College are no different. On behalf of everyone at Hawaii Business magazine, we congratulate Howard Hamamoto, Dr. Virginia Pressler, Victor Lim and Ross Murakami on joining the ranks of Hall of Honor awardees. Mahalo for your hard work and commitment to business excellence, and for making Hawai’i a better, more prosperous place to live.

Congratulations also to the Shidler College for your tremendous achievements over the past 60 years, and for consistently being named among the top business schools in the nation. We also want to extend a very special mahalo to the staff of the college, who have worked so hard to create such a special event this evening.

Mahalo nui loa,

David Tumilowicz, publisher

Howard H. Hamamoto, former president of Amfac Properties, currently splits his time between his real estate development and investment holdings, chairing fundraising events and serving on community boards.

After receiving his BBA from the Shidler College of Business at the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa, Hamamoto began honing his management skills in banking, finance, real estate and land management. He served 9 years at Bank of Hawai‘i as a credit officer and branch manager. In 1964 Hamamoto joined Amfac to help establish its Financial Services division. Subsequent to serving as the division’s president, he went on to manage all of Amfac’s vast property holdings and extensive real estate development, including the Ka‘anapali Resort on Maui.

Under Hamamoto’s tenure, Amfac developed long range planning for the conversion of agricultural zoned lands into urban zoning which were ultimately converted for residential and commercial development.

A third generation Japanese-American, Hamamoto is committed to serving his community. He serves as chairman of the Crown Prince Akihito Scholarship Foundation and recently hosted the 50th Anniversary celebration of its founding which was attended by Their Majesties, the Emperor and Empress of Japan.

He is also the past president of the Japan-America Society of Hawai‘i and currently serves as its director. He is currently president of the Maunalani Foundation and Nursing Center and has served as trustee of the University of Hawai‘i Foundation from 1986 – 1998. He is also a member of the Shidler College of Business 60th Anniversary Steering Committee.
Virginia Pressler is executive vice president and chief strategic officer for Hawai‘i Pacific Health, a non-profit healthcare network that includes Kapi‘olani Medical Center for Women & Children, Straub Clinic & Hospital, Pali Momi Medical Center, and Wilcox Hospital & Kauai Medical.

Dr. Pressler started her career in business right out of college as a management trainee at Bank of Hawai‘i. She enrolled in the MBA program at the Shidler College of Business to further her business knowledge, graduating with honors. In 1976, she left banking to pursue a career in medicine.

Today, Dr. Pressler relies on both her business and medical background as chief strategic officer for Hawai‘i Pacific Health and is responsible for specialty service line development, philanthropy, and government relations. She also serves as president and chair of HPH Partners, the subsidiary of Hawai‘i Pacific Health that oversees all joint ventures.

Previously, Dr. Pressler was deputy director of the Hawai‘i State Department of Health, president & CEO of the Premier Plan, vice president at The Queen’s Health Systems, director of Surgical Education and associate professor of surgery at the John A. Burns School of Medicine, and operated a private practice in general surgery.

Dr. Pressler has been involved with the American Cancer Society for more than 20 years serving as past president of the Hawai‘i Pacific Division and a National Assembly Delegate for the American Cancer Society. She is a commissioner on the Statewide Health Coordinating Council and has served on several state commissions and task forces. Some of her notable accomplishments include the initiation of the Tobacco Trust Fund, the Healthy Hawai‘i Initiative, the Hawai‘i Uninsured Project, and the Hawai‘i Comprehensive Cancer Control Program.

Dr. Pressler has received numerous awards, including those from the American Cancer Society, Planned Parenthood, Hawai‘i Medical Association, Healthcare Association of Hawai‘i, YWCA, and others.

Dr. Pressler grew up on Maui, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Cornell University, and an MBA, MS in physiology, and MD degrees from the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa.
Victor Lim is owner and operator of seven of Hawai‘i’s most successful McDonald’s franchises.

Born in Burma (Myanmar), Lim moved with his family to Thailand at the age of 13. He moved to Hawai‘i to attend college in 1969, graduating from the Shidler College of Business at the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa with a BBA in marketing in 1973 and an MBA in 1975.

Throughout his college years, Lim worked in diverse jobs eventually joining McDonald’s of Hawai‘i in 1974 as a management trainee. For 14 years, Lim worked in various positions for McDonald’s rising to operations manager for the Asia Pacific region.

In 1987, he left the McDonald’s corporate world to become a McDonald’s franchisee and today owns and operates seven restaurants in Hawai‘i located at Fort Street Mall, Dole Cannery, Ala Moana Shopping Center, Discovery Bay, Waimanalo, Enchanted Lake, and Kailua.

Over the years, Lim has received many awards and recognitions from McDonald’s including the coveted Golden Arch Award given out once every two years as the highest McDonald’s franchisee honor. Lim was one of 12 in the U.S., out of 3,000 plus, to receive the award.

In 2006, Lim and a group of McDonald’s franchisees of Asian heritage helped form APIASF (Asian Pacific Islander Scholarship Fund), the first national scholarship program to benefit people of Asian and Pacific Islander heritage. He is also currently co-chairing the capital campaign for the Chinese Chamber of Commerce of Hawai‘i and last year co-chaired the fundraising efforts in Hawai‘i for victims of cyclone Nagris in Myanmar. Lim is also the immediate past chair for the Hawai‘i Restaurant Association and was recently elected to serve on the board of the National Restaurant Association. Lim is also the chair for the Fort Street Mall Business Improvement District.

In 2008, Lim was named the “Citizen of the Year” by the United Chinese Society of Hawai‘i and was presented with the Small Business of Hawai‘i’s Civic Leader Award.
Ross R. Murakami is a partner in KMH LLP, a Hawai‘i firm that specializes in delivering audit, tax, risk management, accounting and business consulting services.

Murakami began his public accounting career in 1987 with Arthur Andersen, where he became the first locally hired professional to become a partner. In 2002, Murakami, together with Peter Hanashiro and Randy Karns, made the decision to sever ties with Andersen by purchasing the Hawai‘i practice. This resulted in the only Andersen office in the country where an entire practice remained intact.

Their philosophy was to build a firm that was locally owned and managed, with the level of quality provided by the best firms in the country. Since then, KMH added four partners from other national accounting firms, growing to be one of Hawai‘i’s largest professional services firms. Many of Hawai‘i’s largest public and private organizations are among their clients.

Over his career, Murakami has been committed to giving back to the community through his support of youth and education programs. Having been a Boy Scout as a youth, he recognized the life and leadership skills that he developed through that experience and has been an active supporter of scouting. He currently serves as president of the Aloha Council Boy Scouts of America. This scouting program includes nearly 20,000 youth throughout Hawai‘i and the Pacific Basin.

Murakami is a member of the UH School of Accountancy Advisory Board and the Shidler College of Business Advisory Council, and has been a generous supporter of the College. He also serves as one of Hawai‘i’s representatives on the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and is a board member and past president of the Hawai‘i Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Murakami is married to Shidler accounting alumna Dayle and together they have two children Connor and Cameryn.
