HALL OF HONOR AWARDS

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 2015
SHERATON WAIKIKI HOTEL
MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Aloha,

On behalf of the Shidler College of Business, I would like to welcome all of you to the 2015 Hall of Honor Awards.

Tonight, the college will welcome five amazing leaders and alumni into the Shidler College of Business Hall of Honor. Through their leadership abilities, entrepreneurial success and public service, these stellar individuals have made significant impacts in their profession, community, and to the college. Tonight, you will have the opportunity to learn more about these leaders through the voices of their colleagues, families and friends.

In addition, the college will present the first ever Visionary Award to Jay H. Shidler. This special award celebrates Jay’s illustrious career, business leadership, community support, and his $100 million transformational gift to the college. His generosity, ingenuity, and vision will ensure future generations of global leaders have access to a world-class business school for many years to come.

Tonight we are grateful to the many companies and individuals who sponsored tables at our Hall of Honor Awards. Your participation and support will help the college provide services and programs that are necessary in preparing our students for professional careers.

Special thanks to our media sponsor, Hawaii Business Magazine and their management team, alumna Barbara Tanabe for emceeing tonight’s program, and the Shidler Alumni Association for its continuous support of the college.

Thank you for sharing this very special evening with us and I hope you enjoy tonight’s program.

Sincerely,

Vance Roley
Dean and First Hawaiian Bank Chair of Leadership & Management

Barbara Tanabe (EMBA ‘83, Hall of Honor ‘96), Mistress of Ceremonies

With over 25 years of experience in communications, Barbara Tanabe has built a distinguished career that has brought her national recognition. She began her broadcast career in Seattle and was recognized by the Asian American Journalists Association for breaking the color and gender barriers in broadcast news.

She was among the first group of reporters listed as one of the top pioneer journalists in the U.S. in the Newseum, a private museum in Washington, D.C. In 1971, she received an Emmy Award for her documentary on the internment of Japanese Americans during World War II. In 1974, Tanabe became anchor and business correspondent with KHON-TV in Honolulu.

In 1987, she joined Hill & Knowlton, Hawai’i’s oldest and largest public relations firm. She was named president in 1992 and CEO the following year, at which time she received the firm’s highest national award: The John W. Hill Award for Excellence.

Today, Tanabe is the owner and principal of Ho’akea Communications LLC, a public affairs company based in Honolulu.
Jay H. Shidler is the founder and managing partner of The Shidler Group, a Honolulu-based national investor focused on commercial real estate and credit-related investments.

While at UH Mānoa, Shidler worked part-time for a real estate appraisal firm. Starting in his senior year, he wrote a weekly real estate column for a prominent Hawai’i business publication.

After graduating in 1968 with a bachelor’s degree in business administration, Shidler was commissioned as an officer in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Upon leaving the service in 1971, he formed what would become The Shidler Group.

Shidler purchased his first hotel in 1972, the Polynesian Plaza on Kalākaua Avenue, and quickly expanded to the mainland with acquisitions in Santa Barbara and Seattle. Fifteen years later, The Shidler Group had 10 offices on the mainland and owned billions of dollars of commercial properties from Manhattan to San Francisco.

In all, The Shidler Group has acquired and owned over 2,000 properties in 40 states and Canada. In Hawai’i, The Shidler Group owns 1.1 million square feet of the Honolulu market, including the Davies Pacific Center, City Center, Waterfront Plaza, and the Pan Am Building.

During the past 20 years, Shidler founded and was the initial investor in over 20 public and private companies, five of which he listed on the New York Stock Exchange. In the U.S., these included San Francisco-based TriNet Corporate Realty Trust (NYSE: TRI), one of the nation’s largest owners of corporate real estate; Chicago-based First Industrial Realty Trust, Inc. (NYSE: FR) one of the nation’s largest industrial property owners; the Columbia, Maryland-based Corporate Office Properties Trust (NYSE: OFC), the nation’s largest provider of high security office facilities to the intelligence industry; and Pacific Office Properties Trust, Inc. (NYSE Amex: PCE). Internationally, Shidler’s Bermuda-based AAA/Aaa-rated Primus Guaranty, Ltd. (NYSE: PRS), with its $22 billion portfolio, became one of the financial industry’s largest providers of credit default swap protection.

In 2006, Shidler donated $25 million to the College of Business at the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa. In honor of his gift, the college was renamed the Shidler College of Business. His gift to the university was the single largest donation made by a private donor at that time. The gift allowed the college to increase student scholarships and faculty research support, expand academic programs, provide matching gift opportunities, and renovate and upgrade classrooms, buildings, and the surrounding environment. Since then, Shidler quietly continued to give a total of $6 million to further renovate the college facilities.

Shidler’s new $69 million commitment in October 2014 brings his total UH giving to $100 million. It is the largest private donation in the history of UH and is truly a visionary gift.

Jay H. Shidler and The Shidler Family Foundation are active supporters of many local and national educational, cultural, and charitable organizations. Shidler and his Honolulu-born wife Wallette (Kamehameha Schools, Class of 1964) have a daughter, Summer, and four grandchildren.
Tran Trong Kien is the chairman and CEO of Thien Minh Group (TMG), an integrated travel group specializing in the Southeast Asian region. He originally started running local tours to fund his medical studies before founding Buffalo Tours in 1994.

Buffalo Tours has evolved into one of the top regional tour operators and is acknowledged as the best originating from Vietnam. Today, it has a global network of 17 operational offices in 11 countries (Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Myanmar, Thailand, Singapore, Indonesia, Malaysia, China, Japan and Hong Kong) and four sales offices in Australia, the United Kingdom, the United States and Russia.

In the past 21 years, TMG has grown tremendously from the original Buffalo Tours brand to an integrated travel group in Southeast Asia consisting of three main business lines and 10 brands: Travel — Buffalo Tours, PEAK Vietnam, Cho Lon Tours, Asia Outdoors and Hai Au Aviation; Hospitality — Victoria Hotels & Resorts, ÉMM Hotels & Resorts, Mai Chau Lodge and Festival Hue Hotel; and Online — iVIVU.com (an online accommodations and travel portal).

Tran graduated as a medical doctor from Hanoi Medical School, holds a BA in English from the University of Foreign Languages and International Studies, Hanoi, Vietnam, and an MBA from the University of Hawai`i at Mānoa. He is a member of several professional and social organizations, including the board of the Asia Commercial Bank (top five commercial banks in Vietnam) and Vinaland Limited (London Stock Exchange - VNL).
Since 2010, Eric Martinson has served as senior vice president of endowment and chief investment officer of The Queen’s Health Systems, the parent company of a corporate enterprise that includes The Queen’s Medical Center, The Queen’s Medical Center – West O’ahu, Molokai General Hospital, North Hawaii Community Hospital, Queen Emma Land Company, Queen’s Development Corporation, and Queen’s Insurance Exchange. Martinson is also president of the Queen Emma Land Company and Queen’s Development Corporation.

Prior to joining Queen’s, Martinson co-founded and was managing director of MN Capital Partners, an investment, asset management and consulting firm established in 1997 that specialized in real estate and private equity assets and transactions. In 2004, MN Capital Partners merged with Tradewind Capital Group, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Island Holdings, Inc., where Martinson served as vice president and managing director responsible for the firm’s private equity investment activities. Martinson began his career at Kamehameha Schools, where he served in numerous financial and investment capacities from 1984-1996 and was director of the organization’s financial asset division, responsible for the organization’s diverse global financial asset portfolios.

Martinson is active in business, community and non-profit organizations. He currently serves on the University of Hawai‘i Foundation Board of Trustees, Enterprise Honolulu Board of Directors, Commonfund Capital Advisory Committee, and the CFA Hawaii Advisory Board. He previously served on the University of Hawai‘i Board of Regents from 2008-2013, serving as chair from 2011-2013, and was a board member of the Research Corporation of the University of Hawai‘i, member of the Office of Hawaiian Affairs Investment Advisory Committee, chair of the Japanese Cultural Center of Hawaii board, director and executive committee member of the Aloha Council – Boy Scouts of America, and member of Kamehameha Schools Board of Advisors.

Martinson obtained his BBA in finance at the Shidler College of Business at the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa in 1984 and earned his MBA from Duke University’s Fuqua School of Business in 1989.

Martinson and his wife Jarnell have two sons, Cody and Cole.
Dawn A. Matsumoto is the Gerhard G. Mueller Endowed Professor of Accounting at the Michael G. Foster School of Business at the University of Washington. Matsumoto’s research focuses on understanding managers' financial reporting decisions, including both the information that managers choose to disclose as well as the mechanisms through which the information is disseminated.

Matsumoto has published in many of the top scholarly accounting journals, including The Accounting Review, Journal of Accounting Research, and Journal of Accounting and Economics. A paper based on her dissertation entitled “Management’s Incentives to Avoid Negative Earnings Surprises” was the recipient of the American Accounting Association’s (AAA’s) Competitive Manuscript Award as well as the AAA’s financial accounting and reporting section Best Paper Award. She serves on the editorial board of The Accounting Review and is an ad hoc reviewer for several other journals, including the Journal of Accounting Research, Journal of Accounting and Economics, Contemporary Accounting Review, and Review of Accounting Studies. Matsumoto is a past-president of the financial accounting and reporting section of the American Accounting Association.

Matsumoto was born and raised in Honolulu, Hawai‘i, and obtained her BBA in accounting from the Shidler College of Business University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa in 1989. She worked for four years at the public accounting firm of Deloitte and Touche before returning to school for her doctoral studies in 1993. She graduated from the University of Washington with a PhD in accounting in 1998. Her first academic appointment following her graduation was as an assistant professor of accounting at Harvard Business School. In 2001, she returned to the University of Washington as an assistant professor, was promoted to associate professor in 2005 and full professor in 2012. She is married to her high-school sweetheart, John Matsumoto. They have two sons Daniel (age 14) and Joseph (age 11).
Larry Rodriguez served as the managing partner of Ernst & Young until retiring in 2007. His 40-year career in the accounting profession included serving companies in the financial services, healthcare, airlines, retail, hospitality, real estate and insurance industries. In addition to his work in audit-related matters, Rodriguez also provided services that covered taxes, internal control system evaluations, and other operational activities for local and mainland companies with global locations.

Most recently, Rodriguez served as the executive vice president and chief financial officer of Central Pacific Financial Corp./Central Pacific Bank during 2010 and 2011. Today, Rodriguez operates his own consulting firm to help organizations in Hawai’i with financial, organizational and other business matters.

In 2011, Rodriguez joined the Shidler College of Business Executive-in-Residence Program where he is involved in student mentoring and provides classroom support to UH instructional personnel. Rodriguez is a member of the Pacific Asian Center for Entrepreneurship Board of Directors and is actively involved in its capital campaign. Rodriguez has served as the chairperson of a special operational and financial task force for the UH Board of Regents. In 2008, Rodriguez with fellow Ernst & Young colleague Terri Fujii endowed a scholarship for the college.

Rodriguez is involved with many local charities and community groups such as Catholic Charities Hawaii, Hawaiian Humane Society, Maryknoll School, EAH Housing, Hands of Hope, American Cancer Society, Mediation Center of the Pacific, etc., and serves on the board of directors of Sennet Capital, Ho’okele Health Innovations, LLC and Energy Industries.

Rodriguez received a BS in accounting from California State University, Los Angeles, and is a Certified Public Accountant and Certified Fraud Examiner.
Allen B. Uyeda was chief executive officer of First Insurance Company of Hawaii from 1995-2014. Under his leadership, First Insurance Company grew stronger after hurricane Iniki and continued its steady growth. He also provided strong leadership when it came to supporting community organizations and projects.

Uyeda started his insurance career with Continental Insurance in 1986 as a senior project leader in corporate finance and was named vice president and chief financial officer of the company’s agency and brokerage group one year later. Previously, he worked as a manager, financial analyst and project engineer with International Paper and Johnson Controls, Inc.

Uyeda is on the boards of BancWest and First Hawaiian Bank and serves as chair of First Hawaiian Bank’s Risk Committee. He is also a member of the BancWest Risk Committee. He currently serves as chairman of the Crown Prince Akihito Scholarship Foundation and vice-chairman of the Pacific Asian Center for Entrepreneurship at the University of Hawai‘i Shidler College of Business. He serves on the board of governors of the Japanese American National Museum and the boards of The Queen’s Health Systems and The Queen’s Medical Center where he is vice chair of the finance committee. Uyeda is also a member of Hawaii Asia Pacific Association, Japan-America Society of Hawaii and the US-Japan Council. He is past-chairman of Hawaii Business Roundtable, the Oahu Economic Development Board and Japan-America Society of Hawaii, past-president of the Hawaii Insurers Council and he formerly served on the board of regents of Chaminade University of Honolulu.

Uyeda received his BS in electrical engineering from Princeton University and an MBA from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania. In his spare time he enjoys golfing and skiing.
Mahalo to the sponsors of the 2015 Hall of Honor Awards. Funds raised tonight will benefit the Shidler College of Business Alumni Association.

#ShidlerVision

Founded in 1949, the college was named in 2006 after alumnus Jay H. Shidler, founder and managing partner of The Shidler Group. In 2014, Shidler increased his initial gift of $25 million to $100 million, making it the largest donation at the University of Hawai‘i from a private donor. The Shidler College of Business is renowned for its multicultural learning environment and its expertise in international business education, and is consistently ranked among the nation’s top 25 graduate schools for international business by U.S. News & World Report. Long recognized for its Asia-Pacific focus, the college offers a wide variety of degree, certificate and executive programs. The UH Mānoa Shidler College of Business is the only graduate program in the state of Hawaiʻi accredited by AACSB International.
