MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

VANCE ROLEY
Dean, Shidler College of Business

Aloha!

It is my pleasure to welcome all of you to the 2016 Shidler College of Business Hall of Honor Awards. Tonight, I am pleased to announce four exceptional business leaders—Rick Ching, John Dean, Tra My Nguyen and Teresa Yang. These inductees are being honored for their outstanding leadership in their profession, service to their communities, and support of education. This year’s inclusion of Tra My and Teresa illustrates the global influence of the college through the success of its international alumni. Congratulations to all.

Organizing a successful event of this size requires a lot of coordination and support. This evening could not be possible without the generous support of our title sponsor Central Pacific Bank and media sponsor Pacific Business News. I would also like to thank the Hall of Honor sales committee chaired by Eric Martinson, Lawrence Rodriguez, and Allen Uyeda, and tonight’s emcee Gina Mangieri. They, like many companies, organizations, alumni, and friends throughout Hawai‘i have continued to support the college and our students.

As always, we are grateful for your participation and generosity. The funds raised tonight by the Shidler Alumni Association for the Shidler Advancement Fund will be used to support:
- Student scholarships
- Student enrichment programs
- Alumni outreach
- Special student activities

We thank you for your participation and support, and wish you an enjoyable evening.

Sincerely,

Vance Roley

HALL OF HONOR AWARD RECIPIENT

JOHN C. DEAN, JR.
Executive Chair, Central Pacific Bank
Chairman, PACE Board of Directors, Shidler

John Dean has spent 35 years as an executive in the financial industry, focusing on troubled institutions, restructuring these institutions and returning them to profitability. In 2010, Dean joined Central Pacific Bank (CPB) and led the bank in its $480 million recapitalization and its return to profitability.

With Dean as CEO, CPB experienced 16 consecutive quarters of profitability. During this period, Dean was recognized as Hawaii Business Magazine’s “CEO of the Year,” Sales and Marketing Executives’ “Salesperson of the Year,” Pacific Business News’ “Business Leader of the Year,” and Pacific Buddhist Academy’s “Inspirational Leader.” In 2015 Dean stepped down as CEO and was elected executive chair of the CPB Board of Directors.

Previously, Dean served as CEO of Silicon Valley Bank (SVB) and was later appointed chairman of its board. During his leadership, SVB’s market capitalization grew from $63 million to a high of over $3 billion. As a result, Dean was recognized by Business Week as one of Silicon Valley’s top 25 “movers and shakers” and by Forbes as one of the “50 most powerful dealmakers.”

Dean also held other executive position at Pacific First Bank, First Interstate Bank of Washington and First Interstate Bank of Oklahoma. Like SVB, two of these banks needed to be restructured and returned to profitability.

Since 2005, Dean has been managing general partner of Startup Capital Ventures, a small private equity fund that focuses on early-stage companies.

Today, Dean is an advisor for various venture capital firms both in the U.S. and abroad, and he serves as a director for several venture-backed companies. Dean also serves as chairman of the Pacific Asian Center for Entrepreneurship (PACE) at the University of Hawai‘i, chairman of the advisory board for Catholic Charities and sits on the boards of Blue Planet Foundation, Hawaiian Humane Society and ‘Iolani School.

Dean is a graduate of Holy Cross College, a former Peace Corps volunteer in Western Samoa, and a graduate of the Wharton School with a MBA in finance.
